

How You Can Support Our Campus Ministry...

Having a campus ministry in or near your presbytery provides a great and unique opportunity to support a local mission.

Make a one-time donation. As a ministry that reaches out to college students, who usually are not financially independent yet, we rely on donations from people in the church who have a heart for college students, campus ministry, the University of South Alabama, or for nurturing Presbyterians throughout their whole faith journey. All of your donation will go towards helping the campus ministry function to serve its students.

Become a regular supporter. In order to provide stability for the ministry, we are looking for people who are willing to commit to donating a certain amount for three school years or more. You name the amount, and we'll count it in our budget for the next three years. We'll ask for the donation for the upcoming school year in May. For example, if you've committed to donating $100 for the next three school years, we'll contact you in May of 2016, 2017, and 2018 to remind you of your commitment and ask for $100 at that time.

Prayer. If you cannot financially support us, please keep our ministry in your prayers. You can receive updates by liking our page on Facebook (UKirk South Alabama), following us on Instagram (@UKirk_SouthAlabama), or following us on Twitter (@UKirkSouthAL).
